

Material (Colors and decors)

Cork:

K091, K092 natural.

Cork is a natural raw material made from the cork bark of oak. Even the production process has a decisive advantage: The oaks do not have to be felled. Their bark is simply peeled off. Such peeling can take place approximately every eight to twelve years. The trees are not damaged by the peeling process.

Important note. Material and colour charts produced by printing can deviate slightly from the original and the colours are not necessarily exactly true. The same applies to ink-jet or laser prints from PDF files.